

2009 Fall – Dateline

In October of 2009, five Tajik water specialists, their translator, and representatives from the Open World Program visited Boulder. The water specialists, along with others traveling to other regions of the U.S., were here to learn more about clean and sustainable water systems. See the Boulder Daily camera article to read more.

A poem composed by Tajik visitor, Gulsharifov Vakhobovich, for his “American Mother” (host family mother) and in honor of all of the hosting families:
